"What is Truth?" Asked Pilate

(an edited version of Sam Candler's Sermon at Emory University, April 1, 2014)

This week saw, among other things, our observance of April Fools' Day! Our foolish, fumbling, humanity likes to observe days and dates. So does our religion. Indeed, most of the great religious traditions of the world have been responsible for creating what we now know as holidays, "holy days," "feast days." Even April Fool's Day, some say, is a result of religious people trying to keep time. But April 1, in our Anglican tradition also marks the observance of Frederick Denison (F.D.) Maurice.

In his great work, The Kingdom of Christ (1838), F. D. Maurice sees the kingdom not as some distant goal, which we attain in the heaven of the afterlife. He sees the kingdom as a present reality, exemplified in the community of the Church, and in the just social systems that the Church represents. This is "Christian socialism," not Marxism, mind you. This Christian socialism was not a system of dogma, but a social reality of faith.

Like most of us, to some degree, Maurice knew adversity. His road to ordination was bumpy, and he faced detractors and accusers throughout his life, accusers rather like Pontius Pilate: "Tell me about your kingdom," Pilate asked Jesus. "What is your story? Are you a king or not?" Pilate seems to vacillate between impatience, irritation, and an actual interest in who Jesus is.

"What is truth?" Pilate finally asked Jesus. And that question has stayed with us ever since.

If F. D. Maurice had been on trial before Pilate, he would have answered this way: "Truth is community." Christian truth is not simply a system of dogma that is inculcated into us, a system that seems far removed from human reality. Rather, pure and simple, truth is community. It is relationship, faithful and honest relationship.

The question asked of F.D. Maurice, and Pontius Pilate's question to Jesus, "What is truth?" is not a bad question. It is not an heretical question, and it is not a question to be avoided.

"What is truth?" What is God's truth in the midst of human suffering and pain, hardship and injustice, even death? What is truth? What an outrageous, ambitious, and even obnoxious question! Who can suppose to provide an answer? But we ought not to give up on this hugely grand, and even maybe arrogant question!

"What is truth?" Truth is a lonely brother, returning home after twenty years to reengage his betrayed twin. Jacob had to return to Esau, to go back to his community, even though he was afraid of the legitimate anger Esau might have towards him. So tense and anxious was Jacob, so fearful of this return to Esau, that he was up all night wrestling with something, or someone, or maybe God.

The next day, it is Esau, the offended brother, who rushes out to meet Jacob first, much like the prodigal father. Jacob is so overwhelmed with grace that he looks at Esau and says, "Surely, surely, to see your face is like seeing the face of God."

That moment of grace, of deep and mysterious and passionate grace, is truth. It is not easy and oftentimes not comfortable. That moment when Jacob sees the face of God is the moment, the eternal moment, of graceful community.

Friends, the truth that the world seeks, is found in communities of struggle and grace, in communities of ordinary people trying to be faithful and just with one another. The truth is found in communities of faith, of honest and genuine relationships, where people share both sin and forgiveness, both hardship and joy, both holy tears and holy laughter.

"What is truth?" This truth is wisdom, holy wisdom, God's wisdom, which might seem like foolishness in the eyes of fumbling humanity. But, for us, it is the power of God.

OLD-FASHIONED SUNDAY SCHOOL (ROOM 133)

Jesus taught his disciples that it was easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter heaven. This teaching has challenged Christians since the day that Jesus said it and, in particular, since the last days of the Roman Empire when the church and its members began to accumulate real wealth. This Lent, we're talking about what our possessions mean to us and how they shape the way we look at the world around us, other people, and God. Each week, we'll talk about a different aspect of the confusion that we often experience between being and having, all with the hope that we will rise to greet Easter morning with a greater sense of gratitude for what we have, and a more mature grounding in who we really are. Join us for this journey. We promise good coffee and lively conversation. The class will be led by Canon George Maxwell, Canon Beth Knowlton, and Mack Leath. We look forward to seeing you there.

THE BOOK OF ISAIAH (ROOM 122)

It is the most quoted book of the Old Testament in the New Testament. Isaiah covers over two hundred years of Jewish history and its theological themes resonate with us all: guilt, punishment, judgment, restoration, salvation and hope. Please join us as we delve into the fascinating book of Isaiah. For more information, please contact Jim Bingham at 404-373-3273 or binghamjim@bellsouth.net or Gordon Mathis at 404-842-1595.

LENT

Lenten Series led by Luke Timothy Johnson

PRACTICAL CHRISTIANITY: LESSONS FROM THE LETTER OF JAMES

Wednesday, April 9 at 7 p.m. in Child Hall

Join us for the final session of Dr. Luke Timothy Johnson's series Practical Christianity: Lessons from the Letter of James.

Possibly the earliest extant Christian composition, the Letter of James is a powerful witness to the Jesus movement in its first years, using the words of Jesus himself to shape its call to a life of integrity in the world. James does not make easy reading for comfortable believers. It uses strong language and it demands hard things of those who wish to follow Jesus, above all that faith be expressed in practical deeds. Among the ideas considered in this series are James' instruction on friendship with the world and friendship with God, on the evils of discrimination among rich and poor, on the power and peril of speech, and on the importance of forming a community of mutual care.

Luke is the Robert W. Woodruff Professor of New Testament and Christian Origins at the Candler School of Theology at Emory University. A former Benedictine monk, he has taught at Yale Divinity School and Indiana University. He is the author of more than 20 books, including The Real Jesus: The Misguided Quest for the Historical Jesus and the Truth of the Traditional Gospels, and The Writings of the New Testament: An Interpretation. He has also published several hundred articles and reviews.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT HOLY EUCHARIST AND DINNER

Before going to Luke Timothy Johnson's presentation, please consider attending Holy Eucharist at 5:45 p.m. in Mikell Chapel and then having dinner in Child Hall.

Women's Habitat Build Day

Dear Women of the Cathedral,

I'm reaching out to you on behalf of the Cathedral's Episcopal Church Women (ECW). Some of you may not realize that you are a member of this group, but if you are a woman and member of the Cathedral—you're in! And as a member, you have a WONDERFUL opportunity to participate in a "Women's Build Day" for the Cathedral Habitat for Humanity home on Saturday, April 26. You'll work alongside fellow Cathedral ECW at-large and guild members to build a home for a deserving family. What a great way to build community among the women of the church while serving others!

Build activities will include finishing siding and caulking, painting the exterior and interior, maybe even installing some baseboard, window sills or interior trim. Never done this sort of thing before? Don't worry, neither have I! There will be helpers to guide us. Lunch is provided on the build site by the fabulous Cathedral Habitat Food Team.

TOILETRIES NEEDED FOR OUTREACH

Have you just returned from or just about to leave for spring break? Well, then St. Veronica's Guild could use your help!

St. Veronica's collects and distributes unopened individual/ sample sized toiletry items to support the work of Church of the Common Ground, Holy Comforter Church, Crossroads Community Ministries and Rainbow Village. Big needs include:

- Men's items, such as razors and shaving cream
- Men's and ladies deodorants
- Feminine hygiene products
- Diapers
- Combs
- Toothpaste and toothbrushes
- Emery boards
- Wash cloths

If you run across any of the above in your travels, scoop them up and bring them to church! Donations are taken any time! Just drop them off at the Information Desk in the Atrium labeled "For St. Veronica's." Remember, only unused, unopened items are accepted!

And if you have any department store makeup or perfume samples or goody bags, bring those too! Larger items are given to Holy Comforter to use for bingo prizes. The St. Veronica's Guild ladies can find a home for any personal care item that is in good shape and unopened!

We'll meet at 7:30 a.m. at Peachtree Battle Starbucks and carpool to the build site. The day will end around 4 p.m.

To participate in this special event, please sign up at the Habitat table in the Atrium on any Sunday prior to April 26 or click on the SIGN UP GENIUS link at stphilipscathedral.org/ecw. Come join us for this special day!

LUNCH-N-LEARN ON WEDNESDAY, APRIL 23, NOON TO 1:30 P.M. IN THE GOULD ROOM

Cathedral parishioners are invited to a Lunch-n-Learn about Mneme (pronounced “nemma”) Therapy®. There is no charge for this information session, but bring your lunch or buy lunch from the Cathedral kitchen. If you have a family member with challenges such as Alzheimer’s, Parkinson’s, stroke, trauma, autism, Asperger’s, or learning disabilities, you’ll be interested to hear more.

WHAT IS MNEME THERAPY®?

Mneme Therapy® uses everyday pleasurable activities such as singing, movement, painting and storytelling in a unique combination to create whole brain communication and stimulate a natural process called neuroplasticity. Neuroplasticity, is a recent discovery in brain research that describes the ability of the nervous system to adapt to changed circumstances, to find new ways of learning.

IS THIS ART THERAPY?

No, the two therapies are quite different from each other. An art therapist has a specialized education dealing with the psychology of the individual, and deals with expression of feelings and emotional healing. Mneme Therapy®, on the other hand, uses the arts in an instructional way to stimulate the brain’s neuroplasticity. The goal is to find new ways to stimulate the brain to adapt and to rebuild lost functions.

Linda Voogt-Wood, certified master Mneme Therapist, will lead the Lunch-n-Learn session. The Cathedral’s Pastoral Care Department is making space available for Linda to work with parishioners and family members on Thursday mornings. If you’re interested in scheduling a Mneme Therapy® appointment, contact Linda at 678-361-5382 or flourishingmindarts@gmail.com. If you’d like to attend the Lunch-n-Learn on Wednesday, April 23, rsvp to Jeannie at 404-365-1034 or jmahood@stphilipscathedral.org.
