ANSELM: “I BELIEVE IN ORDER TO UNDERSTAND”

by the Very Rev. Sam Candler, Dean of the Cathedral

I write this article on April 21, the day on which The Episcopal Church remembers Saint Anselm of Canterbury. I love Anselm! I salute Anselm of Canterbury today! Here’s to St. Anselm and “faith seeking understanding,” which is the phrase he used to describe his pursuit of faithful wisdom. In Latin, it is “Fides Quarens Intellectum.”

Like many an archbishop in the 11th Century, Anselm of Canterbury did not always enjoy an easy relationship with whomever was the King of England. Those were the relationships (and lack thereof!) which came to define the Anglican tradition of Christianity. We are in the state, but not of the state! Anselm was exiled first by King William II, in 1097, as they disputed the king’s right to be involved in church matters (a recurring event in the Church in England!). Exiled for three years! Then, after William died, Anselm was exiled again, by King Henry I, from 1103-1106, for the same sorts of reasons.

But it is Anselm’s creative scholarship that I admire (except for his atonement theory, substitutionary atonement, which I completely deny). Anselm sought wisdom! Anselm tried to reconcile faith and reason in the Christian life. He used the phrase “Fides Quarens Intellectum” to describe that theological work: “Faith Seeking Understanding.” The intellect was important to him, but it was important because faith inspired it.

He is known for composing a distinctive and fascinating, if curious, argument for the existence of God, an argument that depends upon thought and intellect alone. By defining God as “that than which nothing greater can be thought,” Anselm reasons that God must exist. It is called “the ontological argument” for the existence of God. Here is, generally, how it goes:

First: The definition of God, in the mind, is: “that than which nothing greater can be conceived”. (That makes sense to me! God is greater than anything we can think of!)

Second: A being that exists both in the mind and in reality is greater than one that exists only in the mind.

Third: If the greatest conceivable being existed only in the mind, one could conceive of a greater being (one that exists in reality), resulting in a contradiction.

Fourth: Therefore, the greatest conceivable being (God) must exist in reality.

The argument has logical fallacies, but I don’t care. I love it! Its genius, for me, actually lies in its definition of God. God is greater than anything we can think of. Whatever we can imagine, God is greater. The argument does not exactly prove the existence of God, but the argument does describe the existence of God!

Anyway, Anselm also gave us an ongoing principle for how faith and reason go together. He said, “I am not attempting, O Lord, to penetrate your loftiness, for I cannot begin to match my understanding with it, but I desire in some measure to understand your truth, which my heart believes and loves. For I do not seek to understand in order that I may believe, but I believe in order to understand.” Faith seeking understanding.

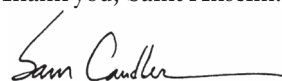

Finally, Saint Anselm was a man of prayer. He was not merely obsessed with the role of reason in faith. Thus, note his prayer, “A Song of Anselm,” which is quite striking in its use of feminine imagery for Jesus, even back then!

A SONG OF ANSELM

Jesus, as a mother you gather your people to you:
you are gentle with us as a mother with her children;
Often you weep over our sins and our pride:
tenderly you draw us from hatred and judgement.
You comfort us in sorrow and bind up our wounds:
in sickness you nurse us,
and with pure milk you feed us.
Jesus, by your dying we are born to new life:
by your anguish and labour we come forth in joy.

Despair turns to hope through your sweet goodness:
through your gentleness we find comfort in fear.
Your warmth gives life to the dead:
your touch makes sinners righteous.
Lord Jesus, in your mercy heal us:
in your love and tenderness remake us.
In your compassion bring grace and forgiveness:
for the beauty of heaven may your love prepare us.

Thank you, Saint Anselm!

Elizabeth Oldfield is a writer, public speaker, and coach, fascinated by how we build lives and organizations which reflect the values of connection, clarity and courage. Her Substack (morefullyalive.substack.com) is a bestseller in philosophy. Her podcast, The Sacred, creates space for a wide range of guests to reflect on their deepest values. She endeavors to model courageous conversations across difference and contribute to a growth in empathy. She's also the author of the book Fully Alive: Tending to the Soul in Turbulent Times (which was studied in Old Fashioned Sunday School last year). ### JOIN US TO CELEBRATE THE SUCCESS OF 2026 CATHEDRAL GIVING BY DESIGN

Sunday, May 3

8:45 a.m. and 11:15 a.m., Cathedral

Building on the Cathedral's strong legacy of supporting Atlanta through philanthropy, we're excited to mark the tremendous success of the 2026 Cathedral Giving By Design event. This year's work will be highlighted by a special check presentation to our beneficiary, Global Village Project (GVP)—the only middle school in the country devoted exclusively to refugee girls—at worship services on Sunday, May 3, at 8:45 and 11:15 a.m.

The generosity of our parishioners, design circle members, and corporate partners has made it possible for funds from Cathedral Giving By Design to help Furnish the Future at GVP's new campus opening fall 2026. These contributions will specifically provide essential resources for three core facilities: an auditorium, library, and cafeteria. Each space is set to foster confidence, creativity, and a sense of community among the students.

We extend heartfelt thanks to the dedicated 2026 Cathedral Giving By Design Committee, honorary chairs Nancy Beane, Sara Chapman, Cheryl Mullins, and Mary Semmes Wright, the devoted staff of the Cathedral, the outstanding team at Global Village Project, and all the volunteers whose efforts ensured this event's wonderful outcome.

With preparations already underway for the 2027 Cathedral Giving By Design, we look forward to sharing more soon. We hope you'll join us for what comes next!

WHY I GIVE

by parishioner Seashols Starks

Over the years, the reasons behind and the ways in which I give—whether it is my time, talent, or money—have grown and changed alongside my spiritual journey. When I first came to the Cathedral, I approached with a spirit of openness and keen anticipation for each week’s sermon. My initial contributions were focused on offering my time and energy, welcoming newcomers into our community, and then heading up the welcoming committee for one Sunday each month. As my involvement deepened, I took on new roles, including convening a Foyers group and participating in the Cathedral Antiques Show. Each step forward allowed me to connect more deeply with the Cathedral and parishioners.

When the invitation to pledge came, I started with a modest contribution. As my faith grew stronger, my giving increased accordingly. Both God and St. Philip’s have been steadfast presences throughout the seasons of my life, supporting me during joyful moments, times of illness, and while mourning the loss of my parents, my brother, and other loved ones.

Last year was filled with challenges, yet I continue to see the many blessings in my life. As fall and the end of 2025 approached, the word “gratitude” resonated within me. I began to ask myself: How can I share my thankfulness more fully? In what ways do I hope to increase my giving to both God and to St. Philip’s? So, when the opportunity arises, I encourage you to pray and then consider increasing your commitment even more. If not today, then when?

THE CATHEDRAL WELCOMES THE ST. JOHN’S BIBLE!

Saturday, May 16

Gould Room, 12:30 p.m.

The Cathedral was recently gifted The Saint John’s Bible Heritage Edition, a hand-written, hand-illuminated Bible encompassing seven volumes. Please join us on Saturday, May 16 as Director Brad Neary of The Saint John’s Bible Heritage Program will be walking us through the Bible. Anyone who is interested in learning more about this beautiful work of scripture and sacred art—especially anyone who may be interested in playing a docent role for the St. Philip community and beyond—is encouraged to gather with Brad for an insightful and enjoyable experience.

The afternoon will begin with lunch in the Gould Room at 12:30. Following lunch, Brad will lead the group through a 3-hour session that has been designed to provide participants with a wealth of information and insights about both the original The Saint John’s Bible manuscript and the full-sized, fine art printed Heritage Edition (limited to only 299). There will be time dedicated to answering all participants’ questions as well as a page-by-page “tour” of the Gospels & Acts volume during which Brad will share stories of how countless others have experienced this Bible.

10:10 a.m., Room 239

How did a tiny Protestant village in southern France save thousands of Jewish adults and children from death during WWII while neighboring towns went on with business as usual? What was it that gave the residents of this community the faith and the courage to do the incredibly hard thing while thinking of their actions as “nothing special”? Join Living Faith as we discuss Philip Hallie’s beautiful book Lest Innocent Blood be Shed: The Story of Le Chambon and How Goodness Happened There. Complementing our discussions will be clips from the film Weapons of the Spirit and reflections on what “ordinary” actions our faith might inspire us to take. For more information, please contact the Rev. Canon Julia Mitchener, julia.mitchener@cathedralatl.org.

HOSPITALITY DRIVE FOR CHURCH OF THE COMMON GROUND

Church of the Common Ground (CCG) is a ministry of the Episcopal Diocese of Atlanta that serves as a “church without walls” at 1 p.m. on Sundays, and 10 a.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays at Woodruff Park located in downtown Atlanta. The congregation at CCG welcomes any and all neighbors to worship with them, many of whom don’t often feel they belong at other services. At every service, Church of the Common Ground provides coffee to their parishioners to foster a sense of fellowship and community as part of their sacred ministry.

The Cathedral is joining their coffee drive to help them continue this tradition of hospitality. The next time you are grocery shopping, please consider buying an extra canister of coffee, creamer, or bag of sugar to donate to Church of the Common Ground, then drop it off at the Cathedral on Sundays, through May 3 in the bin in the Atrium. CCG has offered the following as guidance for what to purchase:

Coffee: A 26 oz. canister of coffee is a good size for our ministry. Our community prefers a strong, robust flavor! Creamer: Two 56 oz. canisters provide enough creamer for one week of ministry. We prefer canisters of powdered creamer over individual creamer pods. Sugar: We use 6 lbs. of sugar each week, but the joy on our parishioners faces is worth it. Please limit size of bags donated to 10 lbs. max.
